

Make TBO Your Home Page | Subscribe / Manage Acct. | Advertise With Us

WISH YOU WERE HERE
WISH & WIN
 MISSISSIPPI GULF COAST GIVEAWAY

Enter online or text MSCOAS to 7464

NEWS WEATHER COMMUNITY ENTERTAINMENT SPORTS LIFESTYLES TOOLS Jobs Auto

Services

ALL | KEYWORDS | NEWS | SHOP | PHOTO | EVENTS | VIDEO | AUDIO | WEB | MORE

Search:

Submit Query

Web Search powered by YAHOO! SEARCH

Thursday, September 16, 2010 Tampa 85.0° Partly Cloudy

SOUTH TAMPA > NEWS

Share

Print

Email

Text Size

UT students build pond

Published: September 15, 2010

ADVERTISEMENT

TBO.com DAILY DEAL

Save at least 50% OFF on local hot spots

SEFFNER On Aug. 27, more than a dozen students from the University of Tampa's Into the Streets program volunteered at the Human Development Center. The HDC is a local nonprofit organization dedicated to helping adults with developmental disabilities and/or autism.

The students spent their Saturday building a meditation rock pond complete with a birdbath signed by all the student volunteers at the C.J. Waters Clinical Treatment Center in Seffner, one of HDC's newest locations.

Share this:

Email

Facebook

Twitter

MySpace

MORE FROM THIS CHANNEL

Loading Comments...

